

Project „Boat Tower“ – from a wreck to a biosphere!

The dive site „Boat Tower“ has to stay! The “Boat Tower” is an artificial reef with 24 wooden boats. But the boats that are a home to many swarms of sardines, brasses, breams and barracudas are now rotting away. You can also observe greater amberjacks, bonitos and wahoos. Angel sharks, stingrays, eagle rays and electric rays are lying in the sand and a sea-horse has settled down at a specific place.

An artificial reef made out of aluminum is the last chance. The pipes are made out of a saltwater resistant alloy.

The pieces connecting the aluminum pipes are made out of plastic from the company Cad.Kat. from Kiel. They supported us by reducing the bill by 1000 €. The whole team says thank you for the generosity. The first divers were already able to admire the cubes in which several young fishes settled after such a short time.

A first step has been successfully made, but that’s still not enough! We are planning to sink another 24 cubes in a way that will enable divers to swim through them.

We need your help and the help of your friends in order to preserve this beautiful dive site. You can already make a change by small donations, we need every Euro! The donators will of course be engraved in an underwater plaque on our homepage.
